CONGRESS WON'T VOTE SEIZURE

Reaction to Mine, Rife Federal Control is Strong

PRESIDENT'S PLAN NIPPED

Anthracite Mine Settlement is Expected Soon

(BY LAURENCE M. BENEDET) WASHINGTON — (United Press) — Congress will not enact emergency legislation authorizing seizure of the railroads and idle coal mines except in the immediate presence of an absolute crisis—such as does not exist now.

This, a virtually complete poll of sentiment in both the senate and house, showed today, is the reaction to "Capitol Hill" to the official White House statement that President Harding wants congress before it adjourns to arm him with the power to take over the rail and coal properties, as a last resort, and operate them in the public welfare.

REACTION PRONOUNCED

Reaction against the White House suggestion that seizure legislation be passed now, for possible use in a final emergency later, was immediate and pronounced in both the senate and house and among both Republicans and Democrats. Many senators and congressmen expressed the doubt as to whether such legislation could be passed in any event, and practically all agreed that a seizure act would be put thru only when it was plain that it was the one move left that would stop industrial paralysis and end severe hardship.

SEIZURE SETTLEMENT NEAR

WASHINGTON — (United Press) — Settlement of the anthracite coal strike and the end of its menacing threat of a winter of suffering "appeared much nearer today as committees of operators and miners prepared to meet in Philadelphia later in the day to consider a compromise proposal of Senators Pepper and Reed of Pennsylvania for terminating the dispute.

The Pepper-Reed proposal was presented to President John Lewis and Vice President Maryann of the United Mine Workers and S. D. Warner and W. J. Richards of the anthracite operators in conferences held in the offices of the two senators, which lasted until after 2 o'clock this morning.

TROOPS WITHDRAWN

HARRISBURG, Pa. — The virtual end of the coal strike in the bituminous fields of Pennsylvania was recognized by Governor Sproul with the recall of national guard troops who have been guarding the fields since July 21.

Four troops of cavalry and one machine gun troop were ordered home this week. The rest will be recalled within another week, the governor said.

REALTOR IS HELD

Prominent Rochester Man is Charged With Murder

ROCHESTER, N. Y. — (United Press) — Grilled incessantly for hours by detectives, Owen D. DeWitt, 45, prominent real estate man, accused of the murder of J. Frank O'Connor, merchant tailor, whose battered body was found in the Sibley building Monday night, today persisted in his declaration that he knows "nothing about the killing."

DeWitt, who is charged with first degree murder, admits drinking and arguing with O'Connor in the tailor shop Monday afternoon, but as to any fight having taken place he says he has no recollection.

The repeated questions as to whether he had a physical encounter with O'Connor, the accused man continually replied today to District Attorney Love, "I cannot remember."

He remembers he had an appointment with a physician in Syracuse. His traveling bag was in O'Connor's car. He went back and got it. He "fell into a taxi" and was driven to the New York Central station where he boarded a train for Syracuse.

TOKIO. — (Associated Press) — The Japanese cruiser Nataka went down in a typhoon off the Kurehara coast August 26, with virtually all hands, according to confirmed advice received by the admiralty. The naval report said that practically none of her crew of 300 was saved.

WRECK OF EXPRESS ATTEMPTED

EXPENSIVE AUTO HAULED FROM BANDIT GRAVEYARD

Mystery Surrounding Bodies in Missouri River Probed

DIVERS HUNTING VICTIMS

Loss by Insurance Companies Declared Large

KANSAS CITY — (United Press) — Insurance companies today took a hand in investigating the "bandits' graveyard" of automobiles and men's bodies said to rest on the bottom of the Missouri river at Nearman, Kansas, a few miles from here.

One car, an expensive roadster, was hauled from the river by whid-lasses late yesterday.

An attempt will be made to raise a second machine today, it was indicated at the office of Sheriff William J. Wright, Jr., of Wyandotte.

Meanwhile search for other machines continues. That there are ten or fifteen cars submerged along the Kansas side of the river within a range of one mile is the belief of Under Sheriff David Kepler.

BODIES IN CARS

One car is known to contain the body of a man, according to Kepler's men. What appeared to be a second corpse, was also reported by divers.

Kepler believes both of the supposed dead men were bandits, either killed or desperately wounded in frequent gun fights with police and buried in the river by their pals.

The insurance adjustment company started an investigation of the apparent wanton destruction of automobiles today. According to A. B. England, representative of the underwriters, automobile thefts and deliberate wrecks have cost local insurance companies thousands of dollars since the first of the year.

SHOTS HEARD

A Shreveport, a farmer living near the river at Nearman, informed Sheriff Wright that he and his family had heard a series of revolver shots on a recent Sunday night at the spot where search for the supposed dead men is now being made.

Shreveport said he had frequently noticed lights of automobiles in the lonely clearing.

He had not investigated the mysterious activities, he said.

SHIP CAPSIZED BY HEAVY SEAS

Cause of Disaster off Chilean Coast Given

SANTIAGO, Chile — (Associated Press) — Latest wireless reports from the cruiser Chacabuco are to the effect that only thirteen persons of the 322 aboard the steamship Itata were rescued when the vessel sank off Coquimbo yesterday.

The Chacabuco is rushing the survivors to Coquimbo where crowds line the wharf awaiting their arrival.

It is understood the Itata was carrying a large number of laborers and their families to the nitrate plants of Chuquibambata. The other passengers were traders.

The account from the Chacabuco says the Itata was caught in a severe gale at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon and was capsized by the heavy seas due to her overloaded condition. The vessel went down in five minutes.

DOCTOR LIVES ON 50 CENTS A DAY

WARREN, Ohio — (Associated Press) — That a man can maintain normal weight on fifty cents worth of food a day was demonstrated here after a week's test by Dr. E. J. Maguire of this city. Dr. Maguire weighed 176 pounds at the start and the scales showed no decrease in weight after the week of abstemious diet.

The test was made of a friendly argument between Dr. Maguire and two other physicians. Dr. Maguire ate 21 meals in a local restaurant.

RACE FOR LIVES ENDS TOMORROW

Rescuers Will Then Reach Entombed California Miners

DIGGING WAY THRU WALL

Science of War Called Upon to Aid in Work

(BY ROBERT A. DONALDSON) ARGONAUT GOLD MINE, JACKSON, Cal. — (United Press) — Flicked crews fought feverishly thru solid earth and rock today to dig out forty-three entombed comrades who are feared already to have perished, cut off by fire, in the depths of the Argonaut gold mine.

The race against death for the lives of the trapped men will end Thursday. Early tomorrow, it is estimated, picks of the tolling rescuers will break thru the final wall between the living tomb and the Kennedy mine, adjacent, and the victims, dead or alive, can be reached.

Seven hundred feet of rock and earth separated the workers from the entombed miners yesterday. Early today, working in relays, they had cut away 400 feet of a tunnel thru which the 43 men can be brought.

Fifty feet of solid granite must be blasted at the last moment.

Red Cross workers, caring for the families of the men, already have completed arrangements to care for the victims.

The fire continued unabated. The science of war was called upon today to assist the rescue crews trying to reach the miners entombed in the Argonaut mine at Jackson. Will J. French, chairman of the state industrial accident commission, announced that a geophone, used to detect sounds at points distant from the instrument, is being rushed from Berkeley.

The geophone will be used in the tunnel thru which it is hoped to effect a rescue. It is so delicately adjusted, according to Mr. French, that it will detect the noise of a falling leaf 100 feet away. It is hoped to detect the distance and location of any noises made by the trapped miners.

The instrument was developed during the war to locate the position and distance of enemy guns and for other related purposes.

LAVER TO SUSPEND

FORT WAYNE, Ind. — The Fort Wayne Evening Press, started one year ago by the Journal Gazette Company, will suspend publication next Saturday, it was announced last night.

The Press and also in the News-Gazette, another evening paper, said that by "mutual agreement it had been decided to clarify the Fort Wayne newspaper situation."

SAYS HE'LL TELL

Joseph A. Tatro, discharged agent of the revenue intelligence unit in Chicago, who has stirred federal circles by his alleged accusations against a huge "rum ring." Names politically prominent have been mentioned in the accusations, and it is asserted the investigation may assume national proportions.

FORD PLANTS MAY NOT CLOSE

Efforts Made for Co-operation to Avoid Shutdown

DETROIT. — (United Press) — Closing of Henry Ford's mammoth automobile plants September 16, may yet be avoided, it was learned at the Ford Motor company's Dearborn office today.

Closing of the Ford plants would be unnecessary if success crowns the present mission of E. G. Liebold, Henry Ford's secretary, and E. L. Rockelman, general manager of the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton railroad, who are in Ohio, Kentucky and West Virginia today in an effort to speed up coal production and shipments.

"Greater harmony between the D. T. & I. Henry Ford's railroad, the Louisville & Nashville and the Chesapeake & Ohio railroads would enable us to ship, considerably greater trainloads of coal north and afford access to the Ford mines at Banner Forks, Ky., Liebold said just before leaving last night.

"If the way was opened to Banner Forks and the L. & N. would let the output of Mr. Ford's mines reach the D. T. & I. the closing of Ford factories would be unnecessary," he said.

The general belief here that Henry Ford's announcement was an attempt to scare the "palpable" gougers was strengthened in a statement made here last night by Mayor Couzens, close friend of Ford, that in his opinion Henry Ford had never at any time seriously contemplated closing down.

MINE PACT SIGNED

Mark's End of Strike in Pittsburgh District

PITTSBURGH. — (Associated Press) — The bituminous coal strike in the Pittsburgh district came to an end shortly after noon today when the Pittsburgh Coal Company, the largest commercial producer of the region, signed an agreement with district officers of the United Mine Workers.

This company was the last in the district to accept the union terms.

BOMB IS FOUND IN NICK OF TIME

Placed on Michigan Central Railway as Train is Due

Violence Breaks Anew

Tracks Are Destroyed by Dynamite in Kentucky

CHICAGO — (Associated Press) — Continued bomb outrages and other forms of violence, inquiries into wrecks and alleged sabotage plots; settlement of unauthorized walk-outs by trainmen on the Chicago and Alton, Elgin Joliet and Eastern and Missouri Pacific and an appeal to congress by railway maintenance of way employees for an amendment to the transportation act assuring a "living wage" for rail workers, marked the sixty-first daily chapter of the history of the nation-wide railroad strike today.

Meanwhile chiefs of the big four transportation brotherhoods meeting at Cleveland asserted their attitude toward the whomps' strike remained unchanged.

A Michigan Central section foreman at Cheboygan, Mich., discovered a dynamite cap and bomb on the tracks near that city. The discovery was made before an express train was due to pass.

Guards patrolled the right of way of the Illinois Central at Princeton, Ky., following the destruction of part of the tracks by dynamite.

RED PROPAGANDA SPREAD

CLEVELAND — (United Press) — Chiefs of the big four railroad brotherhood, their sessions shrouded in secrecy, resumed deliberations today over the situation caused by the whomps' strike.

The situation confronting the railroads was admittedly critical with big four chiefs not in accord.

This situation that has to be met by the brotherhood chiefs:

1—They must see that the men comply with contracts with the railroads.

2—They must give all moral and financial support possible to the striking whomps permitted under their contracts.

3—The report of the interstate commerce commission showing that more than 50 per cent of the 70,000 locomotives of the country are badly deteriorated offers added excuse for firemen and engineers to stop work under contention that their lives are endangered.

BONUS BILL STILL "UP IN AIR"

Senators Quit Guessing as to Time of Final Vote

WASHINGTON — (Associated Press) — The big question today in the minds of friends of the bonus was whether the senate provision for paying it with interest on the foreign debt would put it beyond the risk of presidential veto.

Proponents recalled that the president suggested to the members of the ways and means committee early in the year that the house defer action for a time in the expectation that interest payments from Great Britain would begin to come in.

On the other hand foes pointed out that from the first the executive had been insistent that the financing of the bonus should not be made dependent upon returns from the foreign debt until they were actually in hand.

None of the interest has been received but it has been stated often in senate debate that Great Britain had arranged to begin payments this year.

Even if the bonus should become a law by October 1, senators have said that it would not begin to tax the treasury until next year, as time would be required to put the bonus machinery in operation.

Disappointed over their failure to get a vote yesterday, senate leaders today had quit guessing as to when final action would come.

HARDING SIGNS ACT

BEATEN TO DEATH AT CANTON

Two Women and Man Victims of Unknown Assassin

HUSBAND SOUGHT BY POLICE

Attempt Made to Cover Evidence by Firing Home

CANTON, O. — (United Press) — Three persons were brutally beaten to death with an iron bar here today.

Police found the mutilated bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Burns and Mrs. Mary Nola at the Burns home.

Luther Armstrong, who accompanied Mrs. Nola to the Burns home at an early hour today, also was a victim of the fiendish attack. His injuries are of a serious nature but physicians say he will live.

Police and sheriff's deputies instituted an immediate search for Frank Nola, 26, husband of one of the murdered women.

Nola is said to have been estranged from his wife for several months. They have been living apart.

POLICE NOTIFIED

Police learned of the triple murder when Luther Armstrong, his head bleeding, rushed into police headquarters.

He said he was lighting a match to open the back door of the Burns home when a man stepped in out of the darkness and swung with an iron bar. The blow felled Mrs. Nola and wounded Armstrong.

Police believe the murderer came to slay Mrs. Nola and that when he found her not at home he killed Mr. and Mrs. Burns so they would not interfere with his attack on Mrs. Nola.

EVIDENCE OF STRUGGLE

The condition of the Burns house gave evidence of a terrific struggle between the murderer and his first two victims.

Mrs. Burns' body lay on the bed. Her husband's body sprawled on the dining room floor.

Police arrived in time to frustrate an attempt by the murderer to cover up evidence of his crime by fire. They extinguished a rapidly growing blaze in a pile of rags and papers.

Authorities said Frank Nola, sought in connection with the triple murder, was last heard from in Flint, Mich.

GOOD SAMARITAN DISCLOSED

Mystery Witness Found in Bergen Murder Case

EDGEWATER, N. J. (United Press) — The Good Samaritan—a woman whose name was not disclosed—who comforted John Bergen as he lay dying in the road after he was shot by George Cline, movie location manager, was found by investigators today.

To this mystery witness, according to Prosecutor A. C. Hart, Bergen, daredevil of the films, whispered the story of how he met death after he admitted intimacy with Cline's wife.

The woman, whose entrance into the case added a new thrill, wiped the blood from Bergen's breast as he bared the tale of happenings in the Cline cottage last Friday night, according to Hart.

The woman, just before she fled when the ambulance was approaching, uttered a prayer for the repose of Bergen's soul.

The finding of this woman marks the entrance of the second "mystery witness" into the drama of scrambled domestic affairs. The first, pretty Miss Alice Thornton, who it was discovered a few days after the crime was present at the Cline home when Bergen was shot.

Miss Thornton, Bergen's sweetheart, carried the tale of a wife's infidelity which resulted in the murder.

PRIESTS HELD UP

Americans' Auto is Seized by Irish Soldiers

DUBLIN. — (Associated Press) — American tourists attempting to see Ireland are returning to Dublin deeply disappointed and strong in their condemnation of conditions in the provinces.

Recently despite the advice given them at their hotel here two young American priests rented an automobile and started out sight seeing. They had reached a point only twenty miles from Dublin when they were halted by troops, presumably Republicans.

They showed their American passports but according to their account these brought them nothing but laughter and they were forced to alight from their car which the soldiers appropriated. The priests made their way to the nearest town in a donkey cart. Other tourists have had similar or worse experiences.

SEEN IN LIMA AND VICINITY
We saw a flapper flop into the lap of a strange man on a street car as it started in its well-known "broncho fashion."
The driver of an auto leaned out of his machine to "haul out" a boy on a bicycle who had nearly been run down. While talking to the boy, the driver ran into another machine. Then he got "bawled out."
A 9-year old girl spent the afternoon riding up and down the street on a kiddie car.
We saw a family on a tour with a bundle of firewood and a boy's sled strapped on their automobile.
A small boy came out of a Main-street store with a pair of overalls and proceeded to don them on the sidewalk.
A man in a restaurant mistook his glass of water for a finger bowl. With the aid of a paper napkin, he succeeded in completely washing his hands and face.
A man made all preparations to shave himself, lathering his face and getting his razor ready. Then he remembered that he had been shaved in a barber shop two hours before.
We saw a youthful tennis player walking along W. Market-st. He reached in his pocket, took out a small vanity case and proceeded to powder his face.
Two signs on a gate on the Findlay-rd. One says, "Cow For Sale" and the other, "Keep Out."
We saw a woman in the country carrying a bundle of wood on her head without any apparent difficulty or inconvenience.

ASSAULT CHARGE IN DIVORCE SUIT

Wife Says Hubby Struck Her With Hot Poker

MRS. McNAMARA ASKS DECREE

Doesn't Like Children, is Recited in Petition

Charging that Edward McNamara struck her with a hot poker, inflicting a painful wound on her arm, Mrs. Viola B. McNamara, 926 W. Kibbey-st., instituted action for divorce in common pleas court, Wednesday.

A temporary restraining order enjoining the defendant from molesting his wife or her household effects was granted by Judge E. R. Eastman, upon representations of counsel.

Mrs. McNamara recites in her petition that her husband does not like their six children and refuses to accompany them on trips from the home.

He is alleged to have beaten her, and she is alleged to have been physically injured by him.

At the time of the birth of several of the children, the petition declares that McNamara made a scene and vented his anger over the visit of the stork by abusing the mother.

During the past 20 years of married life the wife declares the defendant has failed to provide her with clothing, food, or shelter.

She alleges that the defendant is also alleged to have been physically injured by him.

During the past two weeks the wife avers she has received $3 for feeding herself and six children.

She alleges that the defendant is also alleged to have been physically injured by him.

They were married in Bowling Green, in 1902. The children are: William, 15; Ronald, 13; Kenneth, 9; Violet, 6 and Clellith, 3.

An attack was made upon her with a stove poker March 26, the wife says. The blow which hit her on the arm, burned and bruised the flesh and caused a severe and painful abrasion.

Hearing to determine the amount of temporary alimony to be allowed the wife will be held before Judge E. R. Eastman on September 6.

Raleigh J. Dixon, detective who entered the race as a result of Conrad's coming out, is getting signatures rapidly, he states to friends. He will have the required number, he believes, before the close of the week.

RAIN FORECAST IS PERSISTING

Weather forecasts seemingly do not take into consideration the wants or desires of individuals, or sets of persons of any sort whatsoever. It is felt generally that mankind in this particular section can get along for a time at least without more moisture, but the weather-man rules otherwise.

Partly cloudy tonight and Thursday, with probable greater showers and no change in temperature.

In effect, that means there is prospect of more rain, altho the speaker of Tuesday evening was sufficient for present needs.

Rain time is gay time for ducks and pigs. Ted is trying out a new Pork Hollow racer for a circus stunt in celebration of the weather prospect.

However, so long as the sun shines, there is no worry about rain forecasts.

They were working in the yard on an automobile, unattended, when they tied a rock to the end of a rope and threw it over the wall, making good their escape.

A night watchman, at a factory nearby, saw the men but by the time he had notified police the men had disappeared and no trace of them could be found. Bartell was serving a sentence of from 2 to 20 years and Beese from 10 to 20 years.

OHIO FUEL BOARD IS DIVIDED

Views of Members as to Results Differ

COLUMBUS. (United Press). — State fuel commission, which is to meet Thursday to consider fixing a statewide reasonable price of Ohio coal, is divided as to the advisability of such action, it became known today.

Lacking authority to compel the operators to observe a low price, it has been pointed out there is danger that the general price level may be boosted instead of lowered if the commission proposes a price sufficiently high that the operators will voluntarily observe it.

Reports from the federal fuel administration and figures on production and shipments in Ohio, of the Fuel Administrator Poor said today, make the situation, so far as danger of fuel shortage is concerned, appear encouraging.

He received notice that the federal commission had discontinued issuing of class one emergency priority orders and that federal committees in the coal producing regions, appointed to allocate output, are to be discontinued September 2.

Poor interpreted these orders to mean that conditions are tending to become stabilized. Reports of coal movements in Ohio last week were also encouraging, he said, railroads having been able to provide cars for 93 per cent of the coal produced.

ARMY OFFICERS ON DUTY AT COLLEGES WITHDRAWN

Wallace had been arrested by Burke when found prowling around the yards. He attempted to escape and Burke tried to hold him as the train bore down upon them. They fought back and forth across the tracks while the engineer attempted to attract their attention and stop the train.

With the speeding locomotive only a few feet away the negro dragged the policeman onto the track.

SHUTDOWN FEAR IS RELIEVED

Thirty-Day Coal Supply Reported by General Motors

DETROIT. — (Associated Press). — Detroit manufacturers were considerably heartened today by an announcement from Charles S. Mott, vice president of the General Motors Corporation, one of the most important industries in this district, that the corporation had a supply of coal sufficient to maintain present production for about 30 days.

The General Motors Corporation, it was explained by Mr. Mott, furnishes a great volume of materials to other industrial concerns.

"The announcement banished, in part at least, the fear felt here that a general industrial shutdown was impending following Henry Ford's decision to close his plants September 16."

"We are hopeful the coal crisis will have passed before our coal supplies are exhausted but of course our remaining open in the future depends upon the progress of the strike," Mr. Mott said. He asserted his concern employed between 75,000 and 100,000 men in the various plants located in Michigan and other states. He said "hundreds of thousands" of other workers employed by concerns dependent upon General Motors for materials undoubtedly would be thrown out of employment should the corporation's coal problem become acute.

LANKER SHIFTS OFFICERS

Seven Positions Remain Open on City Force

Difficulty is being experienced by the police department in securing men to fill the quota of ten emergency policemen authorized recently by the city commission, Chief Lanker announced Wednesday. Until noon Wednesday, but three men had been added to the force, with the possibility of another being released from clerical work by the consideration of appointing a special man for the office routine. Earl Good, Alfred Mills and Doug Robs are the only men added to the department since the emergency was declared.

Rob until Wednesday had been doing clerical work in the captain's office, in order to release Virgil Cook, former clerk, for street work. The chief announced Wednesday that he will probably shift Rob to the street relief for desk and clerical work, in order that Patrolman Capper, now handling that work, might be returned to the street.

Herbert Baxter is being considered as a possible temporary appointee for the position now held by Rob. Lanker announced that he will give the changes a trial within the next few days.

Emergency policemen receive the same pay as the ordinary patrolman who first enters the service for the probation period. It amounts to $115 a month.

Lanker is anxious to have applications for the additional seven men required.

Rob's original temporary appointment as clerk now will probably be considered as changed to emergency policeman.

DISCHARGED SHOP WORKER FINED FOR DRUNKENNESS

John B. Wagner, 22, Chicago, was fined $50 Wednesday morning in police court, after pleading guilty to a charge of drunkenness. Twenty-five dollars of the fine was suspended, with the understanding that Wagner leave town immediately.

Wagner was arrested Wednesday at the L. E. & W. shops charged by relatives there with disorderly conduct, by fighting. An altercation between Wagner and another customer is said to have arisen during which Wagner was discharged.

The charge was changed, however, Wednesday morning, when Wagner refused to plead guilty.

Wagner had two checks in his possession, one for $100 and one for $40. He said he had been employed at the L. E. & W. shops as a machinist, for 25 days.

He left town shortly after paying his fine.

CITY COURT WILL NOT BE MADE COLLECTION AGENCY FOR THE CITY

Judge Emmet Jackson's system of administering the affairs of criminal court will remain unaltered, it was learned Wednesday, after City Manager Bingham and the judge discussed the matter of levying costs in the court.

Bingham announced that he has been convinced of the desirability of Jackson's system of administering fines with the idea of correcting crimes, rather than making of the court a place of collecting revenue for the city.

Suggestion that Jackson be requested to assess costs in his court was made by Bingham Monday at a meeting of the commission. Jackson, hearing of it, announced his opinions of the proposal and of so his willingness to discuss the matter.

The resultant discussion brought a decision to continue the practices of the court, as Jackson has been carrying them on.

"Meow!" Judge Emmet Jackson gazed around suspiciously in Police Court.

"Meow!" Police officers looked blankly at each other.

"Meow!" Court attaches looked under tables and benches.

"Meow!" "Find that cat," directed Judge Jackson.

"Meow!" The search became general in the court room.

"Guilty or not guilty?" the judge asked the prisoner.

"Meow!" This time it sounded near the bench. Judge Jackson began to look around.

He opened a drawer and—"Maroon-o-o-w-r-r!" came a forlorn wail. Jackson picked up the kitten from the drawer.

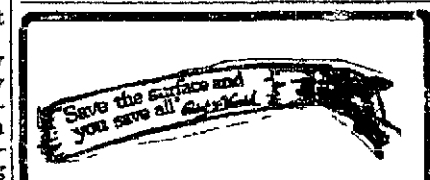

The animal was immediately charged with contempt of court.

"Guilty or not guilty?" asked the court.

"Meow!" was the said reply.

"Guilty, and sentence suspended," said Jackson.

ZIEGFELD - MILLER HATCHET BURIED

Squabble Over Jack Pickford is Patched Up

(BY LUCILLE F. SAUNDERS.)
NEW YORK.—(United Press.)
Flo Ziegfeld and Marilyn Miller have buried the hatchet.

Jack Pickford, over whom they squabbled, made the announcement in an exclusive interview with the United Press today.

The producer and the dainty star and creator of "Sally" are ready to make up, Jack said, and start playing 12 performances a week to every large city in the east.

Ziegfeld couldn't confirm the peace tidings, for he was away up in the Maine woods with Billie Burke, but Jack insisted everything was all right and that Mrs. Pickford thought Flo the "greatest musical comedy producer in the world."

The Pickfords were roughing it in a nine room suite at the Ambassador, winding up their honeymoon.

Marilynn starts enchanting folks in "The Alley" of her famous play next Monday and Jack is slaughtering villains in a couple of movies, so they are heard at work, they say. It was half past twelve in the afternoon when the interviewer called and the Pickfords weren't up.

Along about 2 o'clock Jack, gorgeous in a purple dressing gown, got one eye opened and came out to tell all about the forthcoming lovefest between Ziegfeld and Mrs. Jack.

"For at least a year and probably two," he said, "Marilynn will be doing 'Sally' at the same old stand. She wouldn't consider other productions, nor another producer. She thinks Ziegfeld the best there is, despite any little misunderstanding."

Jack will linger in the east this fall to be near his beautiful bride. "We can be together week-ends," he explained.

ROBY FIGHTS TO SECURE CUSTODY OF CHILDREN

Clarence E. Roby, E. Eureka-st., will fight for the custody of his children, awarded to his former wife, Mrs. Ida Roby, 119 N. West-st., by Judge E. R. Eastman.

A motion filed in common pleas court Wednesday seeks to have the case reviewed by court of appeals.

The appeal is based on the contention that common pleas court has no jurisdiction, as the children are wards of the Allen-co juvenile court.

Juvenile court has not surrendered its right to place the children where they will receive the best care, Judge Hamilton said Wednesday.

Gladys, 17, the eldest, is with the mother, Norman 8 and Violet 10, are with the father.

CREMEAN HOPEFUL

Deficit for County Fair of 1922 May be Averted

A ray of hope is seen by Fair Secretary G. Dale Cremean, who is busy winding up affairs of the 1922 event, with respect to the ultimate financial outcome.

A new estimate of receipts places the total income at $16,000, which is $4,000 more than at first expected. All of it has not yet been collected.

Cremean stated, but for the most part it constitutes obligations which cannot be "dodged."

There are so many bills outstanding, the secretary stated, that it is impossible to determine whether the finances will show a balance on the right or wrong side of the ledger.

Accounts payable, including the race program, so far total $9,458.09.

Premium lists, judge hits and other expense relating to exhibits will prove the deciding factor in the game of dollars and cents.

A PUBLIC GOLF COURSE

CITIES throughout the country, realizing the grip the great game of golf has secured upon the American people, have made provisions for extending the opportunities to play to the public. Municipal golf links have been provided and have proved a great asset. Many cities in this section of the state have taken this step.

Golf no longer is laughed at and ridiculed as it once was. Time was when it was considered a sport for tottering rich men who could not participate in contests of the more strenuous nature. Now it is looked upon as one of the greatest health producers ever introduced.

Baseball has been our national sport so long it is hard to believe that anything could replace it, but golf threatens to do it. And perhaps it would be a great boon if it should. At present tennis is about the only game offering exercise to a great number and it is not generally indulged in. Baseball is a game for spectators, played by professionals. The only thing one gets from it is pleasure—no exercise that would benefit the body. Football is in the same class.

Sooner or later we must realize that it is as essential that we get out in the open and exercise as it is that we go to our places of employment to earn our daily bread. Golf offers the solution. It is a game all can play—young and old alike, and aside from its highly scientific nature which "gets" men to the extent that they forget business and their wives, attesting to the interest it arouses, it gets one into the open where fresh air abounds and makes one exercise in a manner including all the recognized requirements for building up the body and keeping it fit.

Lima undoubtedly will have a public golf course some time. Just now there does not appear to be any means of providing it, but it should come. It should be kept in mind and everything possible should be done to hasten its realization. Such an addition where all might play would be one of the greatest assets the city could have.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE

LIMA is host this week to large numbers of school teachers. From all parts of Allen-co the pedagogues are here, for the annual institute. Instructors of renown are being heard daily and the molders of the minds of the young in preparing them for future problems are absorbing information necessary in their capacity as such instructors.

The gates of this city are wide open in welcome to these most desirable people. They represent the best type of citizenship of their respective communities. They are doing a great work and while it may perhaps be that they are not underpaid, it is certain they are not overpaid. They are required to make sacrifices, but they do it willingly, cheerfully.

So long as the "Three R's" rule in America there is no danger for the future. In preparing themselves for better work, the teachers are building for the instruction of the men and women of the future.

DOM PEDRO

BRAZIL celebrates the 100th anniversary of its independence from Portuguese rule. Hughes, our secretary of state, goes to make speeches at the celebration. He says, on sailing:

"I am especially honored by the opportunity to return the visit which the liberal and high-minded Emperor Dom Pedro paid us at the time of the (Philadelphia) centennial in 1876."

That's the right thing to say, for effect in Brazil. However, the "liberal and high-minded" Pedro had such a corrupt government that, when he was deposed by revolutionists, he left Brazil in his pajamas and had to borrow clothes from the ship captain. The air on the American continent doesn't seem to agree with autocracy.

BRAZIL

THE great countries of the world 100 years from now will be United States, Australia, China, Russia and Brazil.

Do you know that Brazil has more square miles than our country? It claims a population of about 20,000,000, which will be 10 times that big when the enormous Brazilian jungles are drained and put to the plow. Men come out of those jungles now with prison pallor, tho they have been outdoors for months. Under the huge jungle trees that interlace to keep out the sun is as fertile soil as anywhere on earth.

American capital will develop Brazil.

HEART

PETER Whalen, shot by an assassin, runs a block with a bullet thru his heart before falling dead. This, in New York. It makes you marvel at the heart's wonderful strength and resistance.

You'd think it would be the other way. For, from birth to death, the heart is perpetual motion, never stops beating. Other organs of the body can take a few days or weeks off when they need a rest.

BROKERS

Among the most delicious events scheduled for September are the trials of 54 brokers in New York City where 85 brokerage firms have failed in the last six months.

District Attorney Banton, discussing the indictments, says that assets of the dead departed total less than two cents for each $1 of liabilities. How did they happen to overlook the two cents?

SUMMER'S SLIPPING

The summer's almost gone again,
And fall is coming on again,
When we must really get upon the job;

When we must quit our pleasuring,
And start once more to treading,
The work that keeps the busy world a-throb.

The small boy thinks unpleasantly
Of school days coming presently;
He'd like to have vacation all the year.

Fall styles are in the stores again,
We'll soon read football scores again,
And apples on the menu will appear.

Straw hats will soon be laid away,
And Palm Beach suits will fade away,
And oysters will again be fit to eat.
Dramatic stars will flash again,
And college boys grow brash again,
And we won't be complaining of the heat.

Thus, after summer's lazy days,
We'll have the golden, lazy days
When we'll have lots of pep on which to call,
As back to work we turn again,
To earn the coal to burn again,
When winter comes along right after fall!

HEALTH TALKS

Common Sense Ways to Keep Well

RHEUMATISM

The verdict of a person with an aching knee, elbow, or some other joint is almost sure to be "rheumatism."

This, however, is not necessarily the case. The ache may be due to a strained position of the body, causing the gristle of the knee to become unstable. This occurs frequently among athletes or during violent exercise at tennis, swimming, baseball, football or the like.

Real rheumatism is a pus infection, so to get at the root of the trouble, one must rid oneself of the offending bacteria. This is aided by leading a hygienic life, and adopting a correct posture. Too much acid-containing food should be avoided.

Acute rheumatism sometimes involves the membrane over the heart and in a case of this kind it not only is very painful but serious as well. Rheumatism is associated also with nervous diseases, tonsillitis, Bright's disease and complaints of the breathing apparatus.

The first symptoms are a few days of general bad feeling; then come chills, fever, and rapid pulse, often perspiration, blisters on the skin, and finally the joints grow red, hot, swollen, and are very painful. Sometimes this lasts a few days and sometimes several weeks, recovery usually being very gradual. It is more prevalent in men, especially those working in cold places.

The best cure for rheumatism is to get rid of the microbes, keep the resistance of the body as high as possible. Avoid sudden change of temperature, and keep the bowels open by proper diet.

ABE MARTIN

No matter what business we're in or how well off we are, there's times when we all say, "Gee, I'd love to be a policeman." It hasn't been so very long since a woman stayed at home when she "didn't have a decent dress" for her name.

posse, came Harper's Bazaar. And reude the Parisian styles, with silhouettes still the mode. Out in the rain, until picked up by a Buick salesman, whose discourse was on the new sedan, anon.

To the printery, whence came an International Paper broker. In his taylor speaking of spot coal at $23 the ton. And it betimes taking a ton of coal to make a ton of paper. Visions of the future with no evening truth recorder at the supper table. Out to a money, but met albeit, Cliff Wood, the former coal salesman, and he not hopeful of warm radiators. Alan Brady, the banker, slinging a patron twenty dollar bills like they were German marks. H. H. Sterrett, the bond salesman, with his pleasing smile.

To lunch at a civic club's Royal Table. There present being E. R. Curtin, the gas king; Davis Cable, heir apparent of the street railway throne; Dr. Chas. Clark, ruling prince in the House of Hope; Ben Thomas, the traction lord, and F. D. Carpenter, the traction king. I was invited as a guest into the seat reserved for Henry Wemmer, the cigar king. And listened to what they spun, tho couldst tell nothing was said. It being all strange to me.

Out and down the street, waving to Paul Crawford, of bootery fame; and to Ben Rosenbaum, the South Main house furnisher. Nosing around do find Chief Lanker has the bulls now active in railway protection, since Marshal Stauffer waved the Big Stick. None of the new bulls to be given Ford. Until after they have been in service one year. Spoke in fyne friendliness to Mrs. C. F. Lufkin, whose arduous and persistent efforts, gave Lima its Carnegie library. And saw, too, Miss Eda Ballard, first princess of the cafeteria. Long before the Mikado launched his Tokio eatery.

In the evening, drove over the fair city including a jaunt to the perennial home of all newspaper men. Out in Bath-tub. And it looking particularly well kept. On the way in, watched the kiddies bathing in Johnson's swim. To the Quilna, where saw Thomas Meighan in "If You Believe It, It's So." Very good, with a laugh-splitting comedy preceding.

So, out and down thru the promenade. Seeing many ladies in their first autumn's wear. And noting how quickly the male half is throwing away the straw to be on the dot, Friday. Home and for the nonce, read again of "Sleepy Hollow." And wondered what Irving was dreaming: nowadays in his home in the old Dutch graveyard at Tarrytown. Methinks I'll make a try at Emil Asher for a diamond he has at the Windsor. So, to bed.

WEST RATES MEN ABOVE MONEY

Contrast to East Shown in Forbes' Interview

Loans are Easy to Obtain

Backed Furnished Without Dollar of Security

(BY B. C. FORBES)

(Special to The News)

Not all of the men you meet in the West radiate the spirit of the West. Some, not to say most, do.

Harry W. Child, owner of one of the largest ranches in the world, and boss of Yellowstone Park's hotels and automobile fleet, does.

A millionaire today, he started in Montana as poor as the rest of us. He first made his mark in the mining game. Then he became a large-scale farmer. On the land he owned could be set down and enough space would be left to conduct agricultural operations on a big scale. He buys and sells cattle by the thousand, grain by the trainload.

He is constantly seeking young fellows ambitious to launch out as farmers and cattle raisers, and, as a consequence, he has what he calls "partners" by the score.

He is equally famous as a sportsman and as a hunter. He has a habit of getting his personal game out of bed at an unearthly hour during fishing or hunting expeditions.

Some of this breezy, energetic Westerner's comments will interest you. Thus:

"In the West, if he has an honest face, red blood, hard muscle and courage to go to it, a man can always get backing without a dollar of security. Almost any bank, as well as many individuals will have enough confidence to lend an able-bodied, aggressive fellow a thousand dollars to give him a start.

"If you go to Wall Street some of them down there want you to hook everything tangible you have, and you sell as well, before they lend you twenty dollars. That's one difference between the kind of people we have in the West and the kind we have in the East, in Wall Street.

"Here in God's country among the glorious mountains and the vast lakes, we place more importance upon men than we do upon money. Money not make any great mark in the world, but, by heavens, we don't let the world make its mark on us! We live and let live. We haven't operas and theatres and midnight frolics and Great White Ways to supply us with pleasure. But we get more fun out of life, more joy out of human companionship and sociability than can be got out of New York shows and show places and cabarets and the like.

"When I go East, they are usually scrubbing the floors when I get into stairs in my hotel in the morning, and there is nobody on hand to serve breakfast. You city people use the wrong end of the day. You can do more work and you can get more than out of doing it, in sunlight than in electric light.

"It's a curious thing that out in our country a man can get four times as much work as people can in the East or in any other far West parts of the country. Our air, our mountains, our mountains, our mountains and all thru this section of the country, contains so much more oxygen, and is so much more invigorating, that you can accomplish hard tasks and keep on accomplishing them, week after week, without getting the slightest bit run-down, provided, of course, you are healthy and take a decent amount of sleep.

"I have come to the conclusion that a lot of this hustle and bustle and running and sweating of your big cities is all bunk. They do it because they have got into the habit of doing it. But some of them are waking up to the fact that there's a lot of them in hand out and show them what real life and living is like.

"What in thunder are millions of dollars good for if a man has to be a slave, and be cooped up inside a four cramped, stuffy walls in order to make and keep his millions? There's nothing in it.

"There's a lot of money. There's more to life than money, and there's more to life than business, and there's more to life than a man lets himself take complete possession of and drive him around as if it were a tyrant and he nothing but a slave. Out West, any able-bodied fellow who is willing to work can make all the money he needs, and make it, too, without selling his soul for anything.

"Easterners seem to have a code of ethics which is entirely different from the one out West. We try to win our wealth from the soil, from mines, and from oil wells. We would rather help a fellow to make money than scheme to get from him money he may have made. I'm not a preacher and I'm not your good-goody sort, but I hope I am something of a real sportsman, and I can't see how a lot of men in business can get any fun out of trying to snatch the fish another man has hooked, or grab the game another fellow has brought down."

Isn't that good, red blooded talk to you?

SQUIRREL SEASON OPENS SEPT. 15

Killing of Animals Made Legal Until October 20

ISSUE OF LICENSES BEGINS

Legal Time for Other Game is Disclosed

Hunting season open in Allen-

co September 15.

John T. Cotner, county clerk, who issues the hunting licenses, asks every sportsman to pin the date in his hat. One year ago by error a country paper announced September 1 as the end of the closed season on squirrel.

A half hundred hunters near Bluffton who took the field a fortnight too early, had to explain to the game warden.

Season for squirrel opens September 15 and expires October 20. The limit is five a day and sale of game is unlawful.

On the day following, September 16, hunters may legally shoot ducks, geese and plover and small related varieties of feathered game. Cotner warns amateurs hunting ducks and geese that they may avoid trouble with farmers by making sure the birds are wild before shooting.

The limit for ducks is 25 a day and plover 15. Open season in Ohio ends December 31.

RABBIT SEASON

Rabbit season opens November 15 and closes January 1. Season for fox, pheasant, grouse, Hungarian partridge, opossum, skunk, mink, muskrat opens the same date. For opossum and skunk season expires February 1. Muskrat and mink, March 1.

Raccoon hunting opens November 1 and closes February 1. Woodcock season is October 1 and closes November 30. The limit is six a day.

Sale of game birds in any manner is forbidden by law. Sunday hunting is illegal. Hunting of song birds is illegal at all times. Deer and wild turkeys are protected.

Hunters must get written permission from farmers or land owners to hunt on their lands.

Last year almost 4,000 licenses were issued in Allen-co. Cotner suggests that hunters get their licenses early. Nearly a score have already done so, he states.

When she was obliged to reply, she only repeated the fact of her meeting with Barney Lourelle as after supported him, to her employer's exceeding disgust.

Lucas never let her marriage change her name to him and, when he had been obliged to refer to Kincheloe, it had been always as "Miss Platt's husband."

All but Miss Platt's husband were at the door as the sled drew up before the porch, and Ethel felt a rush of love as she saw her grandmother.

She was a little woman, thin and shrunken now but erect, with spirit unbroken by her many she had related it over the telephone.

Every one was well at the house, Lucas assured in reply to Ethel's questions.

"The persons whom he grouped under 'everyone' were his wife and daughter, Mrs. and Miss Platt's husband." Miss Platt had been his private secretary for many years.

Her salary was sufficient to enable her to attract a lazy, good-looking youth named Merrill Kincheloe, seven years younger than herself. She married him and there-fore.

Later in the day Ethel had her business talk with Lucas, "I've come for money, grandfather," she confessed at once. "A good deal of money, some of which I need immediately."

"Well, how much?" "I've the total here; the dates mean the time when I ought to have the different amounts," she explained, trembling in spite of herself.

"These are the names of irrigation and development companies and water-power plants in Montana and Wyoming. I want the money marked 'immediate' to complete the first five and get them running. If I do not do that, the leases—or the purchase contracts—will lapse."

He only grunted as he glanced over it and stopped chewing his cigar. "All right; what happens if they lapse?"

"Father's interest — my interest now," Ethel said quietly; "of course is lost. But that's not most important. It's to see that father's friends and our neighbors out west get their money back. They thought he was going to live and see everything thru."

"So you came to work upon my natural affections for you?" "Yes," Ethel said. "Yes; I suppose you may say I've done that."

Her grandfather slowly drew his leg back from the desk-drawer; suddenly he kicked the drawer shut and with his hands upon the desk, he pushed himself up to his feet. He was still a towering man in spite of the slight stoop which took more than an inch from the stature which had distinguished the days of his great vigor.

"Your father believed he was so smart—so smart," he gloated over her. "He carried off my daughter and he thought he could win against me! He sided with John—John."

"Well, my dear, you're here, are you? Where's your friend from the train?" "He said to thank you; he'd call later. He wanted to go first to the Rock."

"So he'll call later, eh? Now who is he? I'll know all about that fellow."

Honoring Miss Irene O'Connor, whose marriage to Frank P. Cahill, event of Saturday, Miss Beatrice Werner, of W. Wayne-st., entertained Tuesday evening. Bridge was the pastime and at the conclusion of the playing a dainty luncheon was served. A color scheme of pink and white prevailed and garden flowers were prettily arranged throughout the rooms.

Guests included Misses Marie Malley, Mary Fitzgerald, Pauline O'Connor, Ruth Callahan, Cecelia O'Connor, Ruth Runger, of Cleveland; Cecelia Herschode, of Cincinnati; Lorinda Singler, of Sandusky; Mrs. T. A. Mulcahy, Mrs. Fred Voss, Mrs. John Kraus, Mrs. E. P. O'Connor, Mrs. T. E. Moran, of Chicago, Mrs. George Shanahan, Mrs. William Sheffield, Mrs. Frank Riepenhoff and the honor guest.

At last the twins found Flap-Doodle on the Tinky-Winkle Star. When they knocked at the front door, a voice said, "Come in," and there sat the purple fairy who had stolen the Fairy Queen's wand.

"Hello there!" he said in a friendly enough voice. "Hello!" answered Nick. "What do you want?" asked Flap-Doodle.

Nancy had spied the stick in Flap-Doodle's hand. "We want that," she said, pointing toward it. "It's the Fairy Queen's wand."

Honoring Miss Iris L. Linder, smith, who will leave this city soon for her home in Sherwood, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Knipp, of Faurst-ay, entertained informally Tuesday evening. Progressive euchre formed the diversion of the evening and the hostess was assisted by Miss Ruth Robb in serving a delicious two course lunch.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Phil Roeder, Dr. C. A. Schmidt, Misses Nettie Wendt, Emma Meyers, Lillie Brewer, Ruth Robb and the honor guest.

Miss Helen Meredith has returned from New York, where she attended summer school at Columbia University, receiving her master's degree. Miss Meredith is supervisor of English at South-high school and for the past several years has made her home with Mrs. Leah M. Ertler, of W. Spring-st.

When she was obliged to reply, she only repeated the name of his brother violently. "Well, it did look like good business then. John seemed to have stronger hold on the property than I had. But your father forgot about longevity."

"John was under the sod before he was seventy. Your father forgot about my sons, too. John had Oliver—damn weakling; so he's under the sod, too; his wife's below the waves; and everything they had's in court. But it's coming to me! It's got to come to me!" he repeated, snapping off each word short and flailing with his arm for emphasis. "And you got to come to me if you want anything; everybody's got to come to me! For I'm alive and they're all dead!"

He jerked about and strode across the room. Ethel watched him as he went to a window and stood staring out while he recovered himself. For a few moments, he seemed not to be seeing but simply to be staring.

Then he jerked straight, and Ethel knew that he had begun to see and that what he saw was the Rock, gaunt and glistening in the last rays of the declining sun.

Her grandfather slowly turned about. "You want about two hundred thousand dollars immediately?"

"One hundred and eighty-five thousand is the total I put down as necessary now, grandfather," she said.

"Practically two hundred thousand, call it that," he corrected generously. "Well—well, it may be 'needed.' He was attempting to reproduce, now, the indulgent manner he used to take with her long ago when she was a little girl and came to him for dimes and quarters and half dollars for children's trinkets.

He patted Ethel's arm fondly. "Now, my dear, tell me about that fellow Lourelle."

"She drew back a little from him. That it was his sight of the Rock which, the minute before, had changed him!"

"Why, grandfather," she said, "I just met him on the train this morning."

He seized her as the passion which he had with difficulty put down rose to mastery of him again.

"That's a lie—a lie!" he charged. "You're friends; you know all about him. You're friends!"

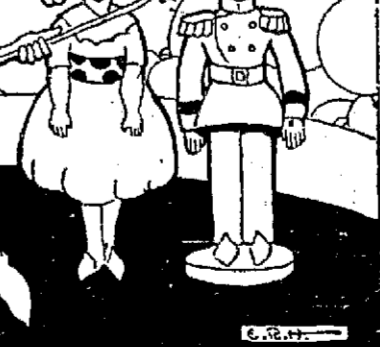

She struggled to break the hold of his hand upon her shoulder, the blood hot within her. "I don't lie!" she defied him. "I do know more about him than I told you; but what I said was true. I told you he was going to the Rock."

"Are you going to tell me about him?" "No." "What?" "No!"

He bent over her. "All right; all right!" he said at last, pulling her papers from his pocket and thrusting them at her. He put his hand to a push button. Ethel could hear a bell ringing in some other part of the house and, knowing that she was dismissed, she went out, meeting Miss Platt in the hall.

"Beautiful afternoon," Miss Platt said agreeably. "Beautiful," Ethel acquiesced and returned to her bedroom. (To Be Continued.)

"We'll see about that," grinned Flap-Doodle, wagging his head. And before anyone could stop him he waved his wand and said these magic words: "Jek, pick, little stick! Do my will, and do it quick!" Instantly Nancy was changed into a baby-doll and Nick into a wooden soldier.

HOMERUN BLUDGEONS HOLD YANKS IN LEAD
JOHNSON FAILS TO CHECK HUGGMEN

NEW YORK.—Walter Johnson, the veteran, bumped into another streak of hard luck against the Yankees and the Washington club lost 3-1. Wallie Pipp's home run counted what proved to be the winning run and Babe Ruth increased his season total to 27. Ruth now is but five behind the leaders, Ken Williams of the Browns, Rogers Hornsby of the Cardinals and Clarence Walker of the Athletics, each of whom have 32.

Walker's 32nd was accounted for in yesterday's game against the Red Sox, which tied the count in the eighth.

nd Galloway's circuit smash in the tenth won 6-5.

BROWNS WIN

The St. Louis Browns kept pace with the Yankees by wearing down the Cleveland pitching ace Uhl. Uhl held the Browns to one hit in seven and two-thirds innings, then cracked. He walked two batsmen, hit another and was touched for four hits and five runs in the seventh. The Browns won 6-3. Sheeley's home run in the tenth with one man on, counted a 5-3 victory for the White Sox over Detroit.

In the Nationals the Cubs strengthened their hold on second place by opportune hitting that defeated the Cardinals 16-11. Five Card pitchers failed to stem the Cub attack.

Brooklyn and Pittsburgh divided two games, the Robins taking the first thru Ruether's twirling 3-2 and lost the second, 6-0, failing to bunch their six hits of the veteran Babe Adams.

TUT BACK TO FARM

NEW YORK.—"Tut" Jackson, erstwhile aspirant to heavy-weight pugilistic supremacy, is going back today to his farm near Washington, C. H. Ohio, having decided last night that the knocks one gets in the bang-up world of fist-cuffs are altogether too hard.

A strapping, happy-go-lucky negro, "Tut" was lured from his farm by the glamour of the ring. He found that money came easier if one could win, and stayed on. He had a great time for a while. He knocked out something like forty opponents, and then one night he got into a ring with the aged Sam Langford.

KAYOES LANGFORD

Langford, years ago, was one of the greatest heavyweights in the business, but Sam is only a shadow of his pugilistic self. "Tut" knocked him out and the country heard about it. "Tut" then made it known that he would like to meet Harry Wills, New Orleans negro heavyweight who is after Dempsey's title.

He met him last night. They poked gloves at each other for two rounds and two minutes and five seconds of another, when Wills swung a right to Jackson's kidneys. "Tut" tried to get up, but couldn't.

Critics predicted only four rounds

THE Chicago Cubs are the best

road team in big league circles this year.

They're holding down third place in the National race solely because of what they've done on foreign fields.

If Bill Killefer's men played as well at home as they do on the road they'd be in second place.

They're the only outfit in either major league to do better on the road than at home.

And thus far only five of the other 16 major league teams have done better at home than the Cubs have done on the road.

In a year of rather poor road teams the Cubs' feat of winning nine more games than they have lost on foreign diamonds stands out as a remarkable achievement.

The best home team in the majors are the Browns of St. Louis, contenders for the American League pennant chiefly because they have won 22 more games at home than they've lost. On the road they've not quite broken even; at home they've been mighty hard to lick.

ABBOTT MAY JOLT BERRY'S PITCHING RECORD

In event he gets past Howell, Helkes or any other hurler who may work for the Reichard clan when Troy plays off the deciding contest of a 3-game series with the Lima Independents Sunday Earl Berry faces real-for-sure opposition when he pitches against the Wapak Reds here September 10. Berry has not been scored on in 35 innings.

For Hank Abbott, the Dayton collegian, is again in his best form after stumbling considerably. Ralph Peepelman, the Minster speedster, defeated him once and Hank lost heart, but he has come back and had won all late slants with the exception of a 2 to 2 victory taken by the St. Marys Athletics Sunday.

Troy is the only outfit that scored off Berry in four games and it may give him some trouble, as Whalen, Varley, Hodges and some of the other players are real hitters. Considering the way Berry has been going, however, local critics predict nothing for him but a decisive win.

SIGN JACK HARLOW

Management of the Lima Independents, announced that Jack Harlow, speed outer grinder of the Findlay-Fosteria ball team, one of the players who has made famous Del Diako's prize collection of ball tossers, will play outfield for the local club.

Harlow can hold down an infield position also and is a valuable all around man in hitting as well as fielding.

COURTS IN SHAPE

Tennis devotees who have of late patronized the courts at the college grounds have been pleasantly surprised at their fine condition. They are as a rule well-marked and free from the thick layers of dust which made playing a misery earlier in the season.

Each evening a caretaker, armed with a big marker, lines the courts. Backstops are in bad condition yet, however. A repair program of considerable proportions will be necessary before the courts can be used next season.

Lucas never let her marriage change her name to him and, when he had been obliged to refer to Kinchelo, it had been always as "Miss Platt's husband."

All but Miss Platt's husband were at the door as the sled drove up before the porch; and Ethel felt a rush of love as she saw her grandmother. She was a little woman, thin and shrunken now but erect, with spirit unbroken by her many years she had related it over the telephone.

Every one was well at the house, Lucas assured in reply to Ethel's questions.

The persons whom he grouped under "everyone" were his wife and "Miss Platt" and "Miss Platt's husband." Miss Platt had been his private secretary for many years.

His wayward wife, a good-looking youth named Merrill Kinchelo, seven years younger than herself. She married him and there-fore.

Later in the day Ethel had her business talk with Lucas.

"I've come for money, grandfather," she confessed at once. "A good deal of money, some of which I need immediately."

"Well, how much?"

"I've the time here; the dates mean the time when I ought to have the different amounts," she explained, trembling in spite of herself.

"Those are the names of irrigation and development companies and water-power plants in Montana and Wyoming. I want the money marked 'immediate' to complete the first five and get them running. If I do not do that, the leases—or the purchase contracts—will lapse."

He only grunted as he glanced over it and stopped chewing his cigar. "All right; what happens if they lapse?"

"Father's interest in my interest now," Ethel said quietly, "of course is lost. But that's not most important. It's to see that father's friends and our neighbors out west get their money back. They thought he was going to live and see everything thru."

"So you came to work upon my natural affections for you?"

"Yes," Ethel said. "Yes; I suppose you may have done that."

Her grandfather slowly drew his leg back from the desk-drawer; suddenly he kicked the drawer shut and with his hands upon the desk, he pushed himself up to his feet. He was still a towering man in spite of the slight stoop which took more than an inch from the stature which had distinguished the days of his great vigor.

"Your father believed he was so smart—so smart," he gloated over her. He carried off my daughter and he thought he could win against me! He sided with John—John."

"That's Sam Green Sky," Ethel informed; and they came upon a white and roan team.

"John, Miss Ethel," Sam hailed and Ethel, while he set about turning his team back into the tracks they had just cleared.

He was a younger man than Redbird, not more than thirty and fat and swarthy.

RESURRECTION ROCK

By EDWIN BALMER

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Strangely sent to Resurrection Rock by a communication from the spirit of LILLIE BREWER, an American officer killed in France.

LILLIE BREWER, daughter of the slain officer, who is going to visit her grandmother, LUCAS, SENIOR, the grim and hard old man who struggled successfully in days of violence for millions of worth of timber. Loutrelle, who had been obliged to refer to Kinchelo, it had been always as "Miss Platt's husband."

All but Miss Platt's husband were at the door as the sled drove up before the porch; and Ethel felt a rush of love as she saw her grandmother. She was a little woman, thin and shrunken now but erect, with spirit unbroken by her many years she had related it over the telephone.

Every one was well at the house, Lucas assured in reply to Ethel's questions.

The persons whom he grouped under "everyone" were his wife and "Miss Platt" and "Miss Platt's husband." Miss Platt had been his private secretary for many years.

His wayward wife, a good-looking youth named Merrill Kinchelo, seven years younger than herself. She married him and there-fore.

Later in the day Ethel had her business talk with Lucas.

"I've come for money, grandfather," she confessed at once. "A good deal of money, some of which I need immediately."

"Well, how much?"

"I've the time here; the dates mean the time when I ought to have the different amounts," she explained, trembling in spite of herself.

"Those are the names of irrigation and development companies and water-power plants in Montana and Wyoming. I want the money marked 'immediate' to complete the first five and get them running. If I do not do that, the leases—or the purchase contracts—will lapse."

He only grunted as he glanced over it and stopped chewing his cigar. "All right; what happens if they lapse?"

"Father's interest in my interest now," Ethel said quietly, "of course is lost. But that's not most important. It's to see that father's friends and our neighbors out west get their money back. They thought he was going to live and see everything thru."

"So you came to work upon my natural affections for you?"

"Yes," Ethel said. "Yes; I suppose you may have done that."

Her grandfather slowly drew his leg back from the desk-drawer; suddenly he kicked the drawer shut and with his hands upon the desk, he pushed himself up to his feet. He was still a towering man in spite of the slight stoop which took more than an inch from the stature which had distinguished the days of his great vigor.

"Your father believed he was so smart—so smart," he gloated over her. He carried off my daughter and he thought he could win against me! He sided with John—John."

"That's Sam Green Sky," Ethel informed; and they came upon a white and roan team.

"John, Miss Ethel," Sam hailed and Ethel, while he set about turning his team back into the tracks they had just cleared.

FRED'S GONE; HOW CAN CONNIE FIND HIM?

By Zoe Beckley

The first quarrel between FRED, salesman, who has been sent to New York by the Gypsy Motor Company, and his new bride, CONNIE, a country girl, breaks out after Connie disapproves of the elaborate the cramped apartment Fred has chosen as their home.

GO ON WITH THE STORY. For some minutes after Fred had flung himself out of the room to whatever desperate thing he had resolved on, Connie's heart-breaking sense of outrage kept her from caring.

Then she wondered for a fleeting moment. And so sooner did she wonder than she wanted to know. Rushing to the window she looked down on Broadway.

Was that unseeing young man, plunging recklessly across the stream of traffic, her husband? A gray shark of a car almost devoured him. Another lurched sideways to avoid a sideswipe.

SPORT
CORES

A young man was Larry Watts, as far as could be seen, when he drove a ball off the putting tee.

These two Buckeye American Association teams—Columbus and Toledo—have a little Alphonso-Gaston to all to themselves around last place.

Joe Lynch and Pal Moore also will participate in the passing show at the City Labor Day, boxing ten rounds as a prelude to the fast and furious sparring match between J. Dempsey and his cohorts.

Now that the Cubs are runners-up to the Giants it is to be wondered whether the Bruins will play sentinel and the pennant tree with more tenacity than the Cardinals.

Carl Williams, Bristol Appalachian league pitcher, has been sold to the Seattle club of the Pacific Coast league.

Carmen Hill of the Indianapolis American Association club has been exposed to the New York Giants for four players who will be released later.

Now going back to college, the young man who was Larry Watts, as far as could be seen, when he drove a ball off the putting tee.

Jim Tracy, the Australian heavy-weight champion, will meet Luis Firpo, the demigod of South American boxing, October 7 in Buenos Aires.

The walking away from rivals in the tennis world has returned from England. Mrs. Molla Mallory, tennis champion, is not surging her terrific play.

Pete Zivie, New York bantam, won the decision over Jackie Palmer of Akron in 12 rounds at Columbus.

Billy Defoe, St. Paul feather-weight, received the judges' decision after a ten-round fight with Jimmy Jacobs preceding the Willis-Jackson bout last night.

Des Moines has sold Pitcher Adrian Lynch to the Boston National league club.

JOHNSON FAILS TO CHECK HUGGMEN

NEW YORK.—Walter Johnson, the veteran, bumped into another streak of hard luck against the Yankees and the Washington club lost 3-1. Walter Pipp's home run counted what proved to be the winning run and Babe Ruth increased his season total to 27. Ruth now is fifth behind the leaders, Ken Williams of the Browns, Rogers Hornsby of the Cardinals and Clarence Walker of the Athletics, each of whom have 32.

Walker's 32nd was accounted for in yesterday's game against the Red Sox, which tied the count in the eighth, and Galloway's circuit smash in the tenth won 6-5.

BROWNS WIN
The St. Louis Browns kept pace with the Yankees by wearing down the Cleveland pitching ace Uhl. Uhl held the Browns to one hit in seven and two-thirds innings, then cracked. He walked two batsmen, hit another and was touched for four hits and five runs in the seventh. The Browns won 6-3. Sheepley's home run in the tenth, with one man on, counted a 5-3 victory for the White Sox over Detroit.

In the Nationals the Cubs strengthened their hold on second place by opportune hitting that defeated the Cardinals 15-11. Five Card pitchers failed to stem the Cub attack.

Brooklyn and Pittsburgh divided two games, the Robins taking the first thru Ruth's twirling 3-2 and lost the second, 6-0, failing to bunch their six hits of the veteran Babe Adams.

TUT BACK TO FARM

NEW YORK.—"Tut" Jackson, erstwhile aspirant to heavyweight pugilistic supremacy, is going back today to his farm near Washington, C. H. Ohio, having decided last night that the knocks one gets in the bang-up world of fist-cuffs are altogether too hard.

A strapping, happy-go-lucky negro, "Tut" was lured from his farm by the glamour of the ring. He found that money came easier if one could win, and stayed on. He had great time for a while. He knocked out something like forty opponents, and then one night he got into a ring with the aged Sam Langford.

KAYOES LANGFORD
Langford, years ago, was one of the greatest heavyweights in the business, but Sam is only a shadow of his pugilistic self. "Tut" knocked him out and the country heard about it. "Tut" then made it known that he would like to meet Harry Wills, New Orleans negro heavyweight who is after Dempsey's title.

He met him last night. They poked gloves at each other for two rounds and two minutes and five seconds of another, when Wills swung a right to Jackson's kidneys. "Tut" tried to get up, but couldn't.

Critics predicted only four rounds

for the big Washington Coffe House man.

EXHIBIT "C"
It was one of the bouts arranged to show Wills is entitled to fight Jack Dempsey. Jackson was exhibit "C" in the evidence that Wills is gathering to force Dempsey into the ring.

PETER MANNING IN SPECIAL RACE

THE Chicago Cubs are the best road team in big league circles this year.

They're holding down third place in the National race solely because of what they've done on foreign fields.

If Bill Killefer's men played as well at home as they do on the road they'd be in second place.

They're the only outfit in either major league to do better on the road than at home.

And thus far only five of the other 15 major league teams have done better at home than the Cubs have done on the road.

In a year of rather poor road teams the Cubs' feat of winning nine more games than they have lost on foreign diamonds stands out as a remarkable achievement.

The best home team in the majors are the Browns of St. Louis, contenders for the American League pennant chiefly because they have won 22 more games at home than they've lost. On the road they've not quite broken even; at home they've been mighty hard to lick.

ABBOTT MAY JOLT BERRY'S PITCHING RECORD

In event he gets past Howell, Helkes or any other hurler who may work for the Reichard clan when Troy plays off the deciding contest of a 3-game series with the Lima independents Sunday Earl Berry faces real-for-sure opposition when he pitches against the Wapak Reds here September 10. Berry has not been scored on in 35 innings.

For Hank Abbott, the Dayton collegian, is again in his best form after slumping considerably. Ralph Poepelman, the Minster speedster, defeated him once and Hank lost heart, but he has come back and had won all late starts with the exception of a 3 to 2 victory taken by the St. Marys Athletics Sunday.

Troy is the only outfit that scored off Berry in four games and it may give him some trouble, as Whalen, Varley, Hodges and some of the other players are real hitters. Considering the way Berry has been going, however, local critics predict nothing for him but a decisive win.

COURTS IN SHAPE
Tennis devotees who have of late patronized the courts at the college grounds have been pleasantly surprised at their fine condition. They are as a rule well-marked and free from the thick layers of dust which made playing a misery earlier in the season.

Each evening a caretaker, armed with a big marker, lines the courts. Backstops are in bad condition yet, however. A repair program of considerable proportions will be necessary before the courts can be used next season.

SHORT SHAVINGS

A. M. Finckh, 418 Elmwood-pl., make the following contribution to this column of social and scientific intelligence: "I saw a young man stop in front of a slot machine and try and trim his bangs with a finger nail scissor."

Sheriff Charles Baxter saw a young woman carrying a live chicken on W. High-st. The prospective dinner began to struggle and flap its wings. She slapped it sharply on the side of the head and said: "Please be quiet!"

Frank A. Eaton, insurance man, mixed business with pleasure in an automobile trip to Bluffton. He ran over a hen in the road and stopped to pay the farmer for it.

Then he asked the farmer if he needed insurance. "I might get the chickens insured if the rates are right," said the farmer. "Automobile drivers who run over them don't stop as a rule."

Herman Lecher ordered materials for lunch for a party at his home.

The delivery boy left it on the back step. Then it disappeared. No one knew what had become of it until the three little dogs from down the street came back for more, wagging their tails and licking their chops.

Pears, all kinds, $1.25 to $2.00 Bu., at Dorsey's.

Why Are Some Women Popular, happy, beloved and successful, while others drag out a negative existence, of no use to themselves or anyone else? Except in a few cases the answer is to be found in a state of freedom from the troubles known as "female." The well woman radiates cheerfulness and serenity, while the ailing one repels because of her lack of these qualities. It is not necessary, however, to harbor aches and pains, and the "nuisance" that make one a detriment to society. The use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought relief to such women and given them a new lease on life.—Adv.
